The Willingness of “Mail-Order Bride” Companies to Provide Services to Violent Men Summary of Research Results

It is evident from press reports and other anecdotal evidence that has come to the attention of Equality Now that “mail-order brides” are subjected to heightened levels of domestic violence. In 1999 Equality Now launched an undercover research initiative to document the response of “mail-order bride” companies to inquiries from men with a history of violent behavior and previous marital problems, and the extent to which such men would be readily accepted and assisted in their search for foreign brides.

The Equality Now research project sent “mail-order bride” companies an e-mail purportedly from a man seeking to obtain introductions to foreign women for the purpose of marriage, who in the e-mail stated that he had plead guilty to disorderly conduct in the context of criminal charges of assault brought by his two ex-wives. The e-mail also mentioned that he had substantial alimony and child support obligations and asked if any of these facts would prevent him from using the services of the company.

Sixty-six responses were received. Of these, three companies refused the fictitious customer service, four requested additional information and fifty-nine were willing to accept him as a customer. From the three companies that refused service, reasons given were because of his “temper”, his “convictions” and his “legal background problems”. Only one of the companies that refused him service said they did a background check to assure their female clients that the male customer has “no prior criminal history and most importantly no domestic abuse history.” Those companies which hesitated to accept him as a customer asked for more information about the circumstances of the assault charges, how he had changed and how he would be able to support a foreign wife without English language skills who would not be able to work for some time. One company willing to work with the customer stated, “We never refuse any clients that come to us with the exception of incarcerated people.” Some companies advised the customer not to reveal anything about his abusive background to the potential bride.

While some companies recommended disclosure by the male customer of negative background information to a prospective bride, none required it or said that they would be compelled to disclose it. “As far as sponsoring your alien fiancée, the government couldn’t care less if you’re Jack the Ripper as long as you’re out of jail and free to marry,” said one company in response to the inquiry.

Copies of the correspondence received from each “mail-order bride” company are annexed. The results of Equality Now’s research initiative document the complete indifference of “mail-order bride” companies to the risk of violence to which they are subjecting foreign women. Even when they were made aware of such risk by self-proclaimed offenders, these companies were prepared to proceed and put women in situations where violence would clearly be a likelihood.

INQUIRY BY FICTITIOUS POTENTIAL USER OF “MAIL-ORDER BRIDE” SERVICES

I have visited your website and am very impressed by your services. I am VERY interested in working with you. I have learned about the problems of modern American relationships the hard way, having been twice married to modern women who were too involved in their careers and my bank accounts. However, I have not given up on the hope that I will one day find a woman who will really love me and care for me forever. Let me give you some background on myself, and ask you a couple of questions. I am a successful pediatrician and have had over 30 articles published in medical journals, most focusing on my research on children living with HIV. I have two children and would love to have more. Even though I make a substantial amount of money, much of it is now tied up in alimony and child support payments. Also, my ex-wives both accused me of assault. I eventually pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct. Will these problems affect my chances? Will you still help me find happiness? Sincerely, Charles V. North, MD

As far as sponsoring your alien fiancee, the government couldn't care less if you're Jack the Ripper, as long as you're out of jail and free to marry. As far as bitches go, I think I understand. They assert that "No" means "No" except when they're nagging, in which case, "No" means, "Keep nagging and try to get beaten. " I think the language barrier actually helps here; it's hard to squawk through a language barrier.

Hi Charlie,

Having also been accused of asult by western women, who are usually the instigaters of domestic violence I can tell you: A) don't let it bother you and B) most Thais avoid confrontation, Buddhist philosophy, so they are not likely to start something that may end in violence. Women around the world are looking for security, Thai women are a little more upfront about the issue. I am also working with someone who will be publishing magazines in Thai, German a English about Aids, so we might be very interested in the articles you have written. We look forward to hearing from you soon.

Hello Charles,

I see that you have a difficult time now. I understand you as many men suffer from career - women. You know that we have good and beautiful women. Most of them are clever and they are not looking for the career. Our women are just grown up in other way. They should care of her husband, children, family, not about her work. It does not matter weather you was pleaded guilty or not. Do not worry about it. The main thing our women are looking is a good, faithful man who is able to care about them. I would be glad to do my best to help you in your private life.

Dear Mr. North,

Thank you for your interest and enquiry. You are among the many men we hear from every day who are tired of American women's greediness and their "send-all-men-to-Mars" attitudes. Asian women, especially the ones who were born and raised in Asia, are typically more loyal, non-materialistic and very family-oriented. They care more about you as a person rather than what you own.

As far as your pleading guilty of disorderly conduct, we do not believe that the INS or American Embassy will do a background check on the men but they do a FBI clearance on the women before they will grant them a Fiancee or Immigrant Visa. However, since we are not experts in the immigration field, we would refer you to this website <http://www.visaservice.com> which may better answer your question. This site also describes in detail the immigration procedures.

You sounded like you have a lot to offer to a woman who truly deserves you. You may wish to give our service serious consideration because many men do find true happiness through us.

I have included below excerpts of letters from some of our many happy clients. They may give you insights into why men use our service and the experience they have gained from using our service. Also included are letters from happily married couples, some of whom also have children as a result of our service. Thought you might be interested. Please don't hesitate to contact me if you have any more questions need any further assistance. We look forward to hearing from you again soon.

Concerning your past assault charges, I fully understand the non-sense that goes on during a divorce. Both sides seem to make charges about each other. Only you and your ex-wife truly know what has happened behind closed doors. All I can say is that we welcome your business only if you are a non violent person that would not harm our female clients.

Dear Charles,

Lots of folks get into scuffles with their mates.. It is not my place to make judgements about folks.. let me say this though, many of the Thai girls are looking to find american men because they are less physically abusive than the Thai men. This assault thing will probably be looked at by the US immigration dept when you file for papers to marry. . of course you should consult an an immigration attorney about this..

The subject of domestic violence is really rampant pushed by the media and the women rights groups right now.. they have put a lot of pressure on the matchmaking industry. They just cannot wait until the next mail order bride gets abused in order to make an issue of it ... also the DOJ has a branch dedicated to this particular subject. Something about a violence against women's act that congress passed.

Anyway, sometimes I wonder whether finding a thai girl is the solution.. just the other night some guy from england called me because his new thai wife "ran off" 6 months after they married.. Her photo was on my website ... I was never informed that she was married.. I also saw her photo on the classified 2000 's ads recently.. so she married the guy and kept looking for another man.. makes me sick.

This thing of finding a girl from thailand is not an easy thing to do nor a quick fix.. it takes a lot of time and effort.. dealing with a new culture and trying to understand it and all the aspects..

One of my earlier clients was a doctor and he works for world health with aids related stuff.. anyway, you need to contact an attorney about this legal issue with your wife and get a professional opinion..

It is hard to find a good woman everywhere.. in thailand it is hard to detect the user types form the sincere.. mainly because we have no way to judge them due to the cultural differences. seriously.. we westerners do not have a clue ... so it takes a lot of time and research and all..

happy holidays,
sincerely,
john at THAIS in DC

I don't know what INS does as far as a background check, but whenever you marry a foreign woman many papers and documents must be filed. I can't answer you in regards to the disorderly conduct charges, but I don't think it would be a problem. As for the money, you just have to make 125% above povety level. I don't know what it is in your case, but for one guy to marry one girl he needs to make around $13,000/year. Also, you will have to travel to Ukraine to meet the women, so you need enough money to travel to Europe.

Charlie,

I don't think that the problems you mentioned should affect your chances. The only requirements for marrying a foreigner is that you have met in person withing the last two years, that you are legally able to marry, and that you have enough money to support your new wife. I can't offer any legal advise, but that is my understanding of what is required. You may want to contact your local INS Office and ask them before getting involved with this, but I don't think anything you mentioned would be a problem. If you tell will me what state you live in, I can send you the address and telephone number of your local INS Office.

Hope this helps....

Dr. North,

I don't anticipate any problems with you using our services. Since you seem to be new to services like ours, perhaps I should clarify a bit about how we operate. We don't really purport to be a "matchmaking" service per se in that we don't get involved in "selecting" who would best be "whoever." And, as we explain on our website, we definitely are not a "mail order bride service"-- although agencies like ours are often "mistakenly" called that.

What we "are" is an introductions-referral service. We provide opportunities for men around the world to meet, make contact with, and get to know, women that might not otherwise have an opportunity to meet. We sell the "contact" information that makes those contacts possible (and through our mail and other services, we assist in maintaining correspondence). Our attitude is this: We will help you and the ladies meet--what happens between the two of you after that is entirely up to you.

Of course, we have an obligation to present only ladies who are sincere in their desire to meet and perhaps develop relationships with men in other parts of the world. And of course we have an obligation to accurately present those ladies, and to provide accurate (to the best of our ability) contact information for those ladies. Those are our minimum obligations. That doesn't mean to say that we don't sometimes assist our customers in other ways--we do: e.g., recommending certain ladies, assisting with correspondence, promoting good communication and cross-cultural relations, assisting with other matters like gift delivery, fiancee visa applications, etc. Those services we do only as a way of supporting our customers.

As for your financial situation--the question you would need to ask is if you are in a good enough financial position whereby you could support a wife (and perhaps a child) comfortably on the income you have left after alimony, child support, etc., is deducted. These women aren't necessarily interested in finding/marrying someone like Bill Gates (although I don't think they would object). They just want to have regular meals, a non-leaking roof over their head, a non-crime infested neighborhood, etc. And besides, the living standards in these countries is so low that even an American of middle-class income (or modest means) might indeed seem quite well-off to them. When you bring a lady to the US from another country, it might take her some time to get acclimated to life in the U.S. perhaps brush up on (or learn) English, correct long-ignored health problems, learn about American culture, and basic work practices that you and I take for granted, etc. During that time, she (and any children) would be totally dependent on you financially (and, depending on her attitudes about working, she may want to remain that way).

I think most of them would also want a loving, supportive, peaceful home environment. Physical abuse is something that is fairly common amongst Russian men (as is alcohol abuse), and so that is to some extent one of the things that they are trying to "escape" from. While I wouldn't recommend necessarily "hiding" from them the accusations that were leveled against you in your previous marriages (Russian women tend to respect "candor"), I also wouldn't recommend discussing it in your first few letters. If they ask, tell them the truth. If they don't ask, don't volunteer the info. Even then, for a few women, you perhaps might have to do a bit of persuading in order to convince them that you are in fact innocent of the charges. But, that aside, I wouldn't think that it would be a big issue for most of these women--Russian women in general tend to be very forgiving (much more so than American women).

I don't know if this helps at all. I hope so. We look forward to having you as a customer.

One of the reasons why a lot of guys look elsewhere for love. The thinking in the former USSR is still that of twenty or thirty years ago, ie you marry your husband for life and look after him. Most Russian are not really interested in working, but raising a family.

Firstly, I want to thank you for your trust, talking to me about your problems. I really think you can get your chance to find somebody to love and be happy. I know about the mentality of modern American women, and I'm sure Brazilian's women are very different, because we live in another world.

Brazilian's mentality is conducted to the family, and affective life, all women would like to marry and become a mother. They don't think only in money, in dispite to wish some financial security and support. Hope you can understand what I mean.

About your conduct, really guess can prejudice very much your relationships and your love- life, bringing you problems. Could be better for you try to control yourself and mood, maybe finding a loyal and kind Brazilian wife.

Please, choose the girls in my catalogue you would like to get in touch, and we can start working together.

I apologize for the delay in getting back to you. I wanted to have time and think about what I would write.

I don't think you will have a problem finding someone. Your past is, well, you past. There is little you can do about that. What you don't have to do is tell someone about it when you first meet or write.

I think it's probably hard to being a doctor. I have been in the US long enough to know that people go through terrible things in a divorce--more so if there is money involved. Or, maybe I just watch too much TV. I don't think that criminals are allowed to be pediatricians, so unless you are banned from practicing, you shouldn't have a problem.

To be honest, being married to a Chinese women isn't any easier than being married to someone of your own race. In fact it is harder. There are many things to learn about each other--not to mention language. But this can be a wonderful adventure in itself.

I think what you will find is, however, that Chinese women make a lifetime commitment when they marry. I feel that in America that many do not make a commitment when they get married. They just get married and hope for the best. Couples willing to make a commitment to each other and to the marriage have the best chance of success. You will find a Chinese woman will do what ever it takes to take care of her family. Even if she works, her family comes first.

I can't say that all Chinese women make great wives, because they don't. But on the whole, most of them that I represent are normal everyday women seeking a different kind of life. Don't think that they just want to leave China for the US. Most are working and doing well in China. Many are looking for more freedom and more opportunities, and some adventure.

I think that if you keep your past to yourself until you find someone you really care about, then you won't have a problem. Naturally, you need to be honest before getting married. And it is best not to place blame, but just to say things didn't work out. Okay, a little blame can't hurt.

As for the arrest, I leave that up to you. You can keep it to yourself unless you think others might tell. If you tend to get angry, you need to find a way to deal with that. The women in China, and you may not believe this, are not used to being yelled or screamed at. In the US it seem very common to have very loud arguments, even in public. Men in China usually just acknowledge what the woman says and keeps quiet. You surely know by know that men seldom win in an argument. Not that women are always right, but that is never the point.

Once you do find someone, you will know what you can say, and what you can keep for later. I wish I were a psychologist and knew more about relationships, then maybe what I have to say would mean more. The fact is, I'm just a former English teacher who has been providing the opportunity for people like you and the women in China to meet. Many have married, but after they marry, I seldom hear from them. I always wonder how things are going.

I don't know you personally and I don't want to mislead you into thinking that marrying a Chinese woman is a cure for everything that went wrong in your marriages. Relationships take work, hard work and that commitment to each other whether a spouse is Chinese or not.

I've taken up too much of your time and I don't mean to lecture. If you are willing to try, I can give you the opportunity. It's not a quick road to a new relationship, but one I think you might enjoy.

Sincerely,
Ellen Chen

Dear Charlie,

What we say about these women in our site is true. They are loving, and so innocent that it is like stepping back in time 60 years in the US. They are not slaves, but they do want to please their men, and they are so maltreated by the CR men that it is incredible.

Unfortunately, as you can well imagine, at the price we charge ($8 to $10 per month), we have not allowed for personal service in helping you to find the right woman.

However, it is possible for us to offer you a personalized search to find the right woman, but that will require a reasonable investment on your part to make it something that we can afford to do. When campgrounds in the US became popular back in the 70s in the states, I built one of the first KOAs, so successfully, that the demand for the type of inside knowledge I had proliferated turned into a consulting business resulting in me consulting on the construction of over fifty KOAs throughout the US. I always saved the owners a substantial multiple of what they paid me. Therefore they got my services for free and made a substantial profit besides. Your needs and the needs of others makes me see the parallel between the campground consulting business and your needs.

If we have a sufficient profile on you, and photos, we could approach the right women, and make arrangements for you to meet several viable candidates. Then you would need to come down here, and we would help you meet them, then you would take it from there if there was the right stuff between you. We would also be your consultant in communicating with them when you went back to the US, and were in the communication stage, and helping them to get a visa to the US, etc. We know that getting a woman out of the country and into the US is not always easy, but we could also help you with that.

We were successful in doing this for one gentleman, and he and the woman are deliriously happy. I have not really considered doing this service to any great extent, but your letter, as well as others I have received indicates to me that there is a great need for this service.

At the risk of repeating myself, these women are wonderful, and your chances of success are extremely great if you get into the flow. With these women, you don't have to worry about careers, money, or attitude. If you offer love, you can receive it one hundred times in return. How does this sound to you?

Sincerely, Tom Jafek

Well Charles, I have found that the majority of Filipinas don't worry too much about your past history. The genuine ones, just want someone to love them and to take care of them, not in a luxurious way. Many of them ask only that their man has a reliable job. As for your criminal history, we have not been asked to run any background checks so far, the girls seem to use their own judgement. Neither have we had any problems with the marriages and relationships that so far have occurred. I would assume that the average lady would be favorably impressed with your profession also. Why don't you write to a couple and see what develops? ... Best wishes ... Sheldon

Dear Charlie, Thank you for your message.

About your questions:

Well, what can I tell you? All, the women listed in our website are in a way very much like you, they are looking for a soulmate, and maybe the love of their lives. I suggest you take a chance, you can loose very little and you have alot to win if you succeed. Our response rate right now is about 65%, so if you write to 10 ladies, it is very possible that at least 5 or 6 of them will reply. You can see what happens from there. Maybe your future wife is right there waiting for your letter. Give it a thought.

I pray this note finds you well and joyful. I thank you very much for your beautiful words. Unfortunately, I never expected to receive so many letters and I had to give-up trying to respond to everyone individually. I have not used one of these automated answering programs before and I hope my friend Teri set it up correctly. It just seemed rude to not answer at all.

The good news is I have many pretty, loving, and well-educated Filipina friends. In fact I set up a free website for them and it has grown into my full time / part-time job. I invite you to look at their pictures and read about them. Many of them have passed medical and background checks, which is very important to you. Wouldn't it be sad that after dozens (or hundreds) of letters and telephone calls, and giving your heart to a special lady, you find she can not qualify for an entry VISA to your country (USA & Canada are very strict) because she has a minor but unacceptable legal problem or health issue.

Identify the ladies you are attracted to and just request their addresses and they are yours free (there is no charge to the ladies either). I am sure you will find several very desirable. As you can see by the pictures some of my personal friends are here. I hope you find them as special as I do. ;-)<]<
Although I am working many hours, and I am several hundred letters behind on my personal correspondence, my spirits are lifted by the many wonderful compliments and helpful comments I have receive recently. It has been a journey of many months to develop the <http://www.EverLastingLove.com> site to it's current status. A journey of tears (some programming problems just do not make sense), and one of learning and making new friends. Of course, I enjoyed assistance from talents far greater than mine, and I am a very thankful person. I have tried to provide much frank information to help gentlemen understand we Filipina better, but as you can tell, our development is far from finished. A good page to start on is <http://www.everlastinglove.com/news.htm>

Currently, I have over 40 new ladies' information to list as soon as I can make the time, so please bookmark my site and return every two weeks or so, for new ladies. I appreciate any suggestions about how I can improve my site. My direct email address is on the site. I have recently added a number of personal services I can do well, and sponsors to try to make this a real business. I have tried to choose them carefully and would appreciate it very much if you need any of the products or services offered that you make your purchase using a link from my site. Thanks!

Wishing you much success in Love & Life,
Jean

P.S. No more silly pop-up ads. I have upgraded the hosting arrangement to have them removed. That means I am paying for server time now so please consider buying products from my links but only if the fit your needs. Also please review the unique opportunity described at <http://alladvantage.com/go.asp?refid=AMG853>

>...I have learned about the problems of modern American relationships the hard way, having been twice married to modern women who were too involved in their careers and my bank accounts. However, I have not given up on the hope that I will one day find a woman who will really love me and care for me forever.

That's why our business is so successful. One of our customers just quipped recently that one day American women are going to have to learn to speak Russian if they want male companionship, because all that will be left are Russian men.

>... Will these problems affect my chances? Will you still help me find happiness?

Of course. But to clarify, please understand that we aren't really a "matchmaking" service per se --- we assist our customers in making contact with ladies who they might not otherwise have an opportunity to meet. Once you make contact, the rest is pretty much up to you and the ladies, although we do offer a variety of services that might assist you in furthering your relationship, e.g., mail forwarding services, translation services, immigration services, cultural training, etc. It's not our place to judge or involve ourselves in the relationship in any way.

As to your financial situation, even a person in the US or Western Europe of modest means (middle income) would be considered wealthy by the standards that women in these countries are used to. I do think though that these women would want a partner who could afford financially to support a wife and maybe a child or two. Many of these ladies would most likely prefer not to work (they tend to be much more traditional and family oriented than Western women), and those that would want to work would probably not be able to do so immediately upon arrival in the US because they (and any children they might have) would need some time to get acclimated, improve their English, etc. Most of these women are not hoping to marry Bill Gates (althouth they probably wouldn't object) --- they are more interested in stability and dependability (as opposed to chronic unemployment and alcholism which is what they are used to with Russian men.). These women probably would also prefer men who are gentle and non-violent because Russian men tend to be quite exploitative and abusive. If this information is encouraging to you, then we do offer a variety of executive services that might interest you. They could save you some time and money.

1. If you can provide us with fairly specific criteria of the types of ladies you would find interesting, e.g., age range, lanuage abilities, with/without kids, height, weight, hair/eye color, etc., we could do a search for you of not only our databases, but the databases of our affiliate agents in the FSU. Then we could set up a private website for you where you could view the profiles of all of those ladies who we find that meet your criteria. You could then select those that you wanted to make contact with. There is a minimum fee of $150 for the search and site set up--we guarantee a minimum of 20 profiles; then any addresses you purchase or letters you send cost extra.

2. We could place a personal ad for you in dozens of newspapers throughout the FSU and then interested ladies could write to you. Customers who have done this in the past report receiving as many as 20-30 letters per week. The fee is $100 for an ad that runs once a week for 4 weeks. Each additional week is only $20. The longer you run the ad, the more letters you will get.

3. We could offer package deals on our mail and translation services (larger than those we offer on our website, and with larger discounts), e.g., 20 letters for $130 or 30 letters for $200.

4. We can make all of the arrangements for delivery of flowers and gifts to the ladies of your choice.

5. We can handle any travel arrangements you might want to make; and in selected cities, we can refer you to qualified guides and interpreters.

6. We can even offer package tours to St. Petersburg, Russian and Kiev, Ukraine, through our affiliation with the agency A Foreign Affair, which would allow you to meet hundreds of ladies from those cities. There are a limited number of these trips each year, however.

If you want any additional information about these executive services or if you have any other questions, just let me know.

Thanks for the long e-mail. ENjoyed reading it. ANyway, I can't promise if I can help you since it is not up to me. Some girls though get discourage when they heard your story. My advice is tell the girl in advance about this and the reason why. My husband has the same problem. His ex-wife accused him of being an abusive husband and I read it in his divorce paper. I asked him and he explained me the whole story and I believed him. Now were happily married and he has never hit me once or hurt me in anyway. He is great husband. So, don't worry about your problem.

Charles,

Without going into any great detail I will state the obvious. You have to be happy with yourself before you can be happy with anyone else. I am sorry to hear about your past difficulties with your past wives. My site Filipina Penpal is an introduction site only. I am not a councilor. And by the way, regardless of whether you are a doctor or a factory worker means little to these wonderful ladies. As long as you can provide a loving, happy, warm, sincere household and truly love your wife, it matters little what you do for a profession. I am sure there would be ladies that would be impressed with your title, just as there are many ladies impressed in the states. But I think you already pointed out what kind of lady that has brought your way. Perhaps try something new, be very modest and do not tell the lady or ladies of interest what you do. Just state that you have a good job and can care for yourself and your family. It is not lying, merely holding off on the good news until you are sure of your decision. Tell the lady of you're troubled past and tell them why. The lady is the only one that judge you on your present character Focus on what truly interests you and what you want out of life. Most importantly, do not get involved with anyone that could make you react to them in a derogatory or violent manner.

I hope this answered your questions, Best of luck to you in whatever it is you decide to do.

Happy Holidays,
Kevin Stelzer

Dear Mr. North,

Thank for the interest in our services. It's very difficult for me to give you the answer you are looking for. I can't speak for the women listed with our services. I think the best way for you to approach this situation is browse our web site, find a few women that interest you, and begin corresponding with them. As long as you are honest and a good person I believe you will be successful in finding yourself a new partner. I wouldn't be writing about how you pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct until you got to know the woman a little and the accusations your ex-wives made are true I would just be honest about it or at least explain why both of your ex-wives felt something happened that was bad enough for them to press these kind of charges. Just be honest, don't hide anything, and be yourself. If you can find a woman that will except you for who you are I'm sure you'll be very happy together.

I've heard countless stories about how Ukrainian and Russian husbands are abusive to their women. It seems that most of these problems come from alcoholism. This I believe, is one of the main reasons why these women are looking elsewhere to find a husband. If you honestly feel you can have a loving, caring and normal relationship with one of the women from our web site I would by all means go for it. You have nothing to lose and everything to gain!

Don't worry about the money thing. I wouldn't even talk about money with these women. It really doesn't matter and if you don't talk about the money and the woman is a gold digger you will eventually figure this out on your own. I get so frustrated when guys write to women and in the first few letter they try to impress the women with how much money they are making or whatever. Let the woman get to know you for who you are .... Please. One of the great advantages you have by "meeting" a woman through a service like ours is that she can get to know you from the inside out. If you are worried that you are making too little money please don't even consider this thought. When you compare the living conditions in Ukraine and Russia to ours here in the States it's an unbelievable and sometimes very sadening thing. If you make enough money to have a decent place to live, a car, buy whatever you want at the grocery store, and have some money left over for entertaining yourself then that is all you need!

If you have any other questions I'd be happy to assist you.

Thanks for your time,

John

Mr North,

I think as long as you are honest with the lady you choose to write, you should be ok. I too was a divorced man after 8 years of marriage, not all happy years either! I have been married to a wonderful Filipina lady for 5 years and the difference between the two marriages is like night and day. Filipina ladies are not subservient, but the husband is the head of the house and the family always comes first.

The ladies on our site are marriage-minded and most come from traditional families. You won't find bar girls on our site. Most of the ladies are from Cebu, which is where my wife is from, and the other majority are from Davao City which is where my stepmother is from.

If we can answer any more questions, you need only ask.

Charlie,

Being a professional will help you and the fact that you have children won't hurt your chances except perhaps with the very young women. This is a fairly expensive thing to do though (addresses are the least of the costs). I spent somewhere around $15,000 over a two year period before finding my wife on my 4th round of writing a wave of 30-40 letters followed by corresponding with the few who responded (it was around 20%) and narrowing the field to one before visiting. Others prefer to visit more than one woman in case there's no chemistry with one, but for me, I couldn't really develop any sense of chemistry if I was seriously corresponding and calling more than one woman. Each man is different.

Please keep in mind also that this is quite an arduous process. Only the lucky and the persistent succeed. If you haven't read our FAQ page, please do so you'll have a better idea of what to expect. Some men think the women are desperately seeking any American that will marry them to get out of their country, but that isn't the case. Approach it as simply personal ads that happen to be inter-country, and don't go in with expectations of easy success. It's easy to fantasize about being involved with a beautiful woman who's image appears on the internet, but going from seeing that image to courting, marrying, and immigrating her is quite a task.

About money- Some men send pictures of themselves standing in front of the BMW/Mercedes/Big house, etc. but I've often heard from women that it turns them off. Don't come off as being arrogant or very nationalistic with the ladies.

Above all, put in the effort, whether it's through us, or another agency. You should also try to start studying Spanish. If nothing else, it'll give you a better appreciation of how difficult it is to reach fluency in a second language and make you more patient with your wife should you marry a Latina.

Hello Charles

You will find latin women are not materialistic by nature. What they want most out of life is to find a man who will treat them with respect and be faithful to them ... next to impossible for them to find in their culture.

As far as will your conviction of disorderly conduct, that will not be asked by the INS should you get ready to bring back a lady to the USA to get married.

Charles, I would like to offer you some advice if I may. If you are really serious about finding your Latina soulmate, you need to write to "all" the ladies you are attracted to now. It is not expensive and it can save you a lot of time. Mail delivery to Latin America can take as much as 2 weeks each way, so if you start communicating with only 4 or 5 ladies now and decide later those particular girls are not for you... many weeks will have passed and you will be starting over. Whereas, if you write to all the women you are interested in now... you will have many to choose from and it will not take you a year to find your special lady.

Dear Mr. North,

I understand the things that you are saying about the majority of American women ..... I've experienced them myself. If you have a way of going to Cali to meet the ladies there, you would be very happy with what you would find. I say this because my girlfriend who is from Colombia and now lives here in Baltimore) is making me very happy.

These women are so different than what we have here in the USA. They are very warm, sincere, affectionate and usually very beautiful. They STILL see the man as the head of the house and they make VERY devoted spouses. The one thing that is so important to them is the family .... something that is often lacking with American women.

You have to experience this to know what I'm saying.

Writing letters is OK but it's a slow motion process. If I could tell you the best way to proceed .... to change your life ..... I would say, Get On The Plane! This is a life-changing experience. It may sound corny, but it's true. Your e-mail reminded me of myself about two years ago. If your heart is sincere, your past will not be any problem in meeting your special lady.

E-mail me back with your thoughts

Dear Charles,

Nice to hear from and I'm sorry to hear about your situation. The truth of the matter is that because you pleaded guilty you now have a record for spouse abuse and because of this the US Dept. of Immigration could reject any application you or your intended made. In my opinion you would be best served in approaching them (Dept. of Immigration) anonymously and asking quietly where you stand exactly in regards to US Immigration law. Once clear of where you stand you'll be in a better position to understand which way to go.

I'm very willing to assist you find a special lady, but feel it would be pointless if you're not in a position legally to allow her to enter the USA and live with you. Your only other option would be to reside in the Philippines which in some ways wouldn't be so attractive as its still considered a third world country and there are also many pitfalls. Plus you would be away from your children, which your intended would not consider to be a thing, as Filipino culture by its nature is "very" family orientated.

Let me know how you go, I'll wait to hear back from you.

Best wishes always,

I am very happy that I found Rose, my wife. We also have a great daughter. Asian ladies like to live more simple and they are very much more faithful. I got married in the Philippines and the Judge told me that Divorce is illegal in the Philippines and that I could not get a divorce. We try and go visit her family in the Philippines every 1 to 1 1/2 years. We have a great time every time we go.

Don't give up. Just be careful and picky. Remember it is for life. Just let us know what you would like to do next. Purchase some ladies addresses, think about it, or put your photo and ad on our site for free. Just let us know. And if you have any questions please ask.

In heated arguments we all say and do things we did not mean, it does not make us a bad person. What I am trying to say is, let the ladies get to know the real you. Some one that has the courage and love to work with HIV children, someone that cares for people and tries to make a difference. Do not mention your financial status, after all you want the ladies that will love you for you and not your money. I am sorry to hear that your past relationships have not been satisfying. I am also quick to point out Thailand too has its share of ladies only interested in only what you can offer in the ways of material gain. The Thai smile is a form of politeness which all too can hide many unpleasant truths.

I will confess to being very concerned about the charges you mentioned but your openness and honesty is good. I always say the truth is most important and often the truth is less frightening than our fears. I would be interested in the whole story one day. The charges may effect your chances with the USA Visa department. I find that the Visa people here are fair and nice so you could explain to her I am sure. I am willing to work with you as you are willing to tell me of these personal matters.

Who where you interested in anyhow? Have you ever been to Chiang Mai? We have many children here with HIV I have a friend that runs one of the local Baby homes for HIV positive orphans. Our flower site contributes to it. Well hope to hear from you soon.

Hi Charlie,

I'm unclear on what you mean by "working with you". We provide our clients access to our gallery of Thai ladies, who have expressed interest in meeting foreign gentlemen. Relations are cultivated between the gentleman and the lady of his choice. The first few emails serve to "break the ice". Based on the content of those exchanges, the lady usually decides whether to give her phone number and address. Thai ladies are characteristically shy and don't want their home addresses or phone numbers posted on the internet, for all to see. All have agreed to allowing the posting of their pictures, to interested men. These relationships, as with others, tend to be what you will make of them. There can be no guarantee of happiness, as this depends as much on you as it does on your lady of choice. As far as your past, you probably have enough experience in making choices, to help you make some good ones.

Hi Charlie,

There is no problem establishing a meaningful relationship with an educated but traditional Indonesian lady. A lady raised in traditional Indonesian fashion not liberated and no interest in becoming so. Divorce is no problem for most ladies. My recommendation would be to just select a few ladies, with E-mail and do some test communication. You can decide after a few days if it is the right method for you. Really inexpensive. I have had guys order only 1 address and find their mate.

Myself...semi retired Engineer, did projects in Saudi, Thailand, Indonesia and the USA. Two modern wives...same as you. I would like to have punched them out but I didn't. After 15 years I decided to look for an Indonesian lady because I had a wonderful time in Indonesia on a projet on Java some years ago. I found my lady...33 year old single, never married, Chinese/Indonesian from Kalimantan. College grad...accounting. Really a perfect mate for me at this time. I adore her and we get along so well. Hope to hear from you soon....I am sure we can help find the perfect lady for you.

Dear Dr. Charles V North,

Thank you for your letter and warm words. It is difficult to say whether this problem that you had will affect your chances of not. I am sure that INS will know about it and this will definitely become known for your eventual fiancee - during interview, for example. It is difficult to say how it will affect your relations with Russian ladies. Much depends on what had actually happen. How will ladies react when they will know about it? Hard to say... Everything depends on particular lady... In other words, if you want me to give you some definitive answer, I just can't do that. I won't try to sell you our services and tell that everything will be just fine, all you need to do is get your credit card ready and purchase addresses ;- ) It wouldn't be fair, and we are honest people.

There are some other nuances. Getting a Russian wife is pretty expensive thing. You will have to spend $5000-10000 on getting her there - this includes your visit to Russia (maybe several visits), tickets for her, papers, visas, bribes, AND help to her - if your relations will get to something serious. Besides, you will have to support her and eventual children when she comes to US - it is obvious that she won't be working, at least for some time. Think well if your present situation allows you to cope with that kind of money - you still have other children to support ...

Well, I am sorry, I have probably disappointed you - I am unable to give you some straight answer ... Maybe if I learn more about your case, I could be able to make some judgment, right now it is just not enough information.

If you have any further questions or need advice, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Most sincerely,

I don't know the circumstances behind the charges you mentioned, but it does give me pause. Could you explain?

Sorry Charlie, but these are legal questions I cannot answer for you, better that you speak to an immigration attorney. I must say that you sound like a man who may have a bit of a temper and taking it out on a woman does not sound too healthy to me, I believe that I will have to say no on my assistance to you, but I do hope you can resolve this issues to a better ending for yourself and any future relationship you may have.

Dear sir,

Thank you for your inquiry. Asian ladies are very traditional in their beliefs and family traditions and whilst we sympathize with your situation, in view of your convictions, we feel it would be improper for us to work together. We would like to wish you good luck in the search for a partner and best wishes for the future.

Best Regards.

Dear Sir:

Thank you for your interest in our Asian Ladies Introduction Service, However we are sorry we can not help assist you with our services due to your legal background problems with the local law enforcement agencies in your area.

It is our agency policy to only except membership from Male or Female members based on a members qualifications one of which is to pass a background check of which we feel you may not be able to do , one of the most important reasons we do the background check is to assure the Asian Lady member of no prior criminal history and most importantly no domestic abuse history.

We suggest that you may wish to try a friendship service or a penpal club many of these clubs do not have any requirements such as we do for joining, A couple of good agencies we could recommend to you as a penpal club would be found at www.thailadies.com or Pacific Romance phone number to their office is 707-747-6906 you may tell them we recommended you to them this may help you alot, They know of our agency very well and we have referred many people to them in the same situations you are facing, And we are sure they can help assist you very well they are two very good companies for penpals.

Sincerly

Mike
